From Mrs. Paredes

A young lady was waiting in the airport's departure lounge. There was a delay so she bought some cookies. She sat down in an armchair and read her book. Beside her sat a pleasant young man reading his book. Neither spoke. The young lady took her first cookie. Much to her surprise, the young man also took a cookie. This continued until there was only one cookie left. Then the man took the last cookie and divided it in half and handed it to her. That was just too much. She still did not say anything, but angrily snatched up her book and stormed off to the departure queue. Later, as she was sitting on the airplane, the lady reached for her purse to get her eyeglasses. Much to her surprise she found a bag of cookies, untouched and unopened! When she realized that she had placed her cookies in her purse, she felt ashamed. The man had shared his cookies with her without feeling anger or bitterness...while she had been angry when she thought she was sharing her cookies with him! Now, there was no way to apologize or even explain her actions...

Does this sound familiar? It's easy to become possessive over our things. We work hard for our money and want to enjoy life to the fullest. We work for our dream house, a new car, nice clothes, and the coolest toys for our children. It is definitely hard for most of us to share our cookies with strangers. However, when living life from a biblical perspective we know that what we have in life are blessings from God and none of those things really belong to us. Everything we have is from and for the Lord! Our sole purpose here on Earth is to do all we can to further the Kingdom of God and a great way to start doing that is by sharing the blessings that we have been given!

I hope you have a wonderful week!
Mrs. Paredes
